

Third Special Session Report
(The week ending October 26, 2001)

Senator J. Kalani English
Senate District 5
Wailuku-Upcountry-Kahului

We are in our Third Special Session convened to seek economic relief after the September 11th attacks. A total of seventeen bills were put forward in the Senate and the House, and the bill I sponsored, SB15, requests that $1,500,000 be appropriated to establish an Emergency Environmental Workforce to deal with the dengue outbreak and other environmental hazards. SB15 proposes workable solutions to our current health, environmental, and employment issues.

The 15 bills that are currently working their way through the legislature represent a collective effort towards shoring-up Hawaii's civil society during this time of economic crisis. While I have reservations on some of these proposals, I am nonetheless supporting all of them.

In the end, most of these bills have a shelf life of only a few months. I am cautious on bill 17, which would allow the Governor to declare an economic emergency. However, because of some strict language on checks and balances, and a reverter clause (which returns everything to the way it was before the declaration of economic emergency), I can support it. Extraordinary times call for extraordinary measures.

I have given a brief description of the bills put forward this Third Special Session on the following page.
